SUMMARY

I am a student majoring in Information Engineering, an individual who endlessly strives to grow and learn. Always eager to pursue opportunities to hone my knowledge and skills, I have a deep interest in the field of software development. With complete determination and commitment, I pursue my academic goals tenaciously, always looking for new ways to overcome challenges and face problems. My proactive approach to learning and self-development was also appreciated by my classmates. I have a strong determination to continuously improve my skills in technology, and I see myself as dedicated to becoming highly competent in the field of software development.
